

Come Early.

Wednesday Morning,
Jan 2, 1895,

—AT—

The Peoples' Store.

Annual Clearance Sale.

8c Brown Muslins to be sold at 3½c; 8c Bleached Muslin to be sold at 3½c; Good Standard Prints, at 3c per yard; Ladies' and Misses' Cloaks at $1.00, $2.00 and $3.00; 25c Dress Goods now 12½c; 50c Dress Goods at 25c per yard; Table Linens at 15c per yard. Great Bargains at the Remnant counters. Hosiery, Gloves and Underwear very cheap.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

H. E. PORTER, Fifth St. and the Diamond.

TO BE SACRIFICED.

$25,000

Worth of Dry Goods, to be offered at sweeping reductions

Saturday Morning, January 12, at THE BOSTON STORE.

This Special Bargain Sale is for the purpose of reducing stock and will extend to every department in the store. For details of this money saving sale read our special adv. on fourth page of this paper, or consult the hand bill that will be left at your home. Please note that the big reductions in prices is good only for the next 30 days, so come early and get the cream.

THE BOSTON STORE,

A. S. YOUNG, 138 and 140 Fifth St.

THE OLD BOYS OBJECT

They Want No G. A. R. Meeting at Louisville.

STRONG RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

General Lyon Post Places Itself on Record as Being Against the Decision of the Pittsburg Encampment, and Will Not Attend This Year.

The old soldiers who make up General Lyon post of the Grand Army passed resolutions last night that will soon be heard in every community of the land where veterans of the late war meet and recall events of the dark and stormy days when treason was rampant and blood was the balm for a disrupted union. The resolutions which were ordered printed in the News Review follow:

WHEREAS, The war for the suppression of the rebellion, and for the preservation of the life and integrity of this nation, was an instance of the uprising of a great people, influenced by the purest and most unselfish patriotism. It possessed no element of sordid avarice or unscrupulous ambition. Its memory gives renewed strength to patriotism, tends to elevate and adorn our national character, and makes us stronger each succeeding year. The overthrow of the rebellion, accomplished at so great a sacrifice of blood and treasure, imposes upon the survivors of that conflict the gravest responsibilities. The graves of buried hopes and ambitions; the toils and privations and sacrifices of four years of incessant conflict; the widow's tears, and the orphan's prayers; the memory of our dead comrades all admonish us to a sleepless exercise of eternal vigilance in sacredly guarding the legacy they died to save. The bloody chasm between, and separating loyalty and treason, should be built as broad, as deep and as impassable as the gulf of perdition itself, across which there can exist no reciprocity or fraternity of sentiment, interest or sympathy. On our side of that chasm there is room for all who are true and loyal to the principles for which we fought, and who have the continued prosperity and glory of our country at heart. We desire, and will tolerate no others, and

WHEREAS, The war of the rebellion was instituted by unscrupulous demagogues in defense of and for the perpetuation of the blackest and most damning curse against God and man ever tolerated in the history of the race; it was inaugurated without cause, waged in defense of no meritorious or commendable object, and prosecuted for the purpose of righting no wrong; its entire history, from its inception to its inglorious overthrow, is possessed of no element calculated to inspire either respect, admiration or commiseration; its damning purpose, its barbarities and inhumanities constitute the darkest chapter in the record of fallen humanity; the horror and condemnation its history incites can only be exceeded by the contempt and detestation engendered by its surviving apologists, in their efforts to mask and shield the hydra-headed monster from the execrations and the curse of a civilized and enlightened world; therefore, be it

Resolved, By General Lyon post, No. 44, G. A. R., Department of Ohio, that we view with unqualified condemnation every purpose, and every device, whereby loyalty is dishonored and treason palliated. We regard the reunions of the blue and the gray, the parading of participants in rebellion, as inexcusably reprehensible; and the building of monuments in memory of traitors, or to commemorate treason, as dishonoring to the nation, insulting to the memory of our dead comrades, and dangerous in its tendencies upon the educational development of our people. The building of every monument to perpetuate any event, or the memory of any relic of that great treason, stigmatizes its projectors as objects of suspicion, and their professed loyalty to our flag and country a dissembling strategy. Not until all such monuments are in the dust, and the results of the war accepted in good faith and works, or while such persons as Rev. R. C. Cave and Thomas L. Rosser are accepted as exponents of public sentiment, will we be justified in accepting such professions of loyalty as sincere, or believe that ex-rebels are worthy of confidence or fellowship.

Resolved, That we condemn the action of the late national encampment at Pittsburg in selecting for its place of meeting in 1895 a city where people condemn their profession of loyalty to our flag, and respect and esteem for the principles and purposes of the Grand Army by projecting and prosecuting the building of a monument, in honor of, and to perpetuate the unparalleled crime of a causeless rebellion. We believe such an insult to the loyalty of the great majority of our honored order was only made possible in consequence of the will of the representative delegates being overshadowed by the voice of the anti-American "House of Lords." We regard the selection of the place of meeting with its characteristic element a good and sufficient reason why General Lyon post, No. 44, shall not attend such encampment as a post, notwithstanding it has been sought to modify the insult, and to palliate the curse by combining with it the dedication of the monuments on the battlefield of Chancellorsville.

The meeting was enthusiastic, and was attended by a large membership of the post, so that the charge can never be made that the action was but the sentiment of a few. It was known that there was a strong sentiment among the veterans against the selection of Louisville, yet few people outside the organization ever imagined that any forcible denunciation would come from Ohio.

TOO MUCH FEVER

And Too Little Care Taken By Some of the City Physicians.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—Again the painful intelligence that there are no less than six cases of scarlet fever in East Liverpool must be impressed upon the minds of the people, and again must it be asked that every individual observe the greatest caution to prevent carrying the disease from one family to another. But there are those in particular to whom, although it would be unnecessary if they lived in a big city where rigid inspection compels care, the same warning must be given, viz., the city physicians. Not all of them by any means. There are some doctors who observe the greatest of care in handling this dread disease, and it is a good thing East Liverpool is provided with them. But others are not. The law requires that physicians disinfect their clothing thoroughly after every visit to a case of scarlet fever. This rule is being violated, and it is high time the attention of the public is called to it. The health of every man, woman and child is endangered by such carelessness. It is criminal in the extreme, and if continued will undoubtedly cause an epidemic of scarlet fever such as the city has never known. I for one, do not propose to have this kind of work any longer, and will not stand idly by and see the disease spread by the very persons who should do their utmost to check it. If I have again occasion to refer to this the names of the offenders will be given so that the proper authorities may have a chance to open their eyes.

GOOD HEALTH.

A BAD PROCEDURE.

West Virginia Sends Paupers Into Ohio and Pays a Month's Rent.

Township Trustee J. W. Albright has decided that West Virginia can not send any more paupers to East Liverpool, as the Ceramic city has plenty of her own.

The trustee yesterday afternoon called the attention of a News Review reporter to a special from Columbus stating that the prosecuting attorney of Jefferson county had addressed a letter to Attorney General Richards in which he complained at that the West Virginia authorities were continually sending paupers across the river into Jefferson county and even went so far as to pay a month's rent in advance for each. This leaves the indigent persons to be cared for by that county. There is no law governing these cases, but Clerk Byers, of the board of charities, has advised that all such families be sent back.

"Columbiana happens to be in the same fix as Jefferson in this line," said Mr. Albright, "and we have now at least two families whom the Hancock county authorities got rid of in this rather easy manner. They are very particular if an Ohio pauper crosses the river to board at the expense of the taxpayers, but when they can induce someone to come over here it is different. Hereafter they will all go back, and without ceremony, too."

On to Washington.

The arrangements for the annual meeting of manufacturing potters at Washington are completed, and a goodly crowd will be in attendance from this part of the world. Last night 36 persons had signified their intention of taking the special car at this point, and were preparing to leave for Washington on Monday evening. Of these the majority are from this city, but not a few from the surrounding towns where potteries are located will be in the party. Last year the majority of manufacturers went by the Baltimore & Ohio. The Pennsylvania carries them this time.

NATIONAL A NUISANCE

So the Board of Health Says of the Hotel.

A NEW HEALTH OFFICER CHOSEN

In the Person of Doctor Ogden, but J. T. King Will Draw the Old Time Salary Under a New Title—Doctor Toot Appointed City Physician—Doctors and the Board Will Talk It Over.

In spite of the troubles through which it has been passing these past few months the board of health held a special meeting yesterday afternoon, and after electing new officers inaugurated a reform which was suggested some time ago.

Mayor Gilbert presided at the meeting, and Members Kauffman, Purinton, Thomas, Huston and Chambers were present, when Huston introduced the following resolution:

"Resolved, In the opinion of the board of health in the city of East Liverpool, O., there exists at the corner of Broadway and Railroad street a building known as the National House, which is a public nuisance, inasmuch as said building is occupied and rented for living and business purposes, and sanitary plumbing and sewerage are possible and necessary, but are neglected and refused. The same is hereby declared a public nuisance, and the owner, agent or person having control of the same is hereby ordered to abate or suspend said nuisance by making suitable closet connections with the city sewer on or before Jan. 21, 1895, or be subject to the penalties provided by law in such cases. The clerk shall serve a copy of this notice on said owner, agent or occupant."

Chambers moved that the charges now pending in the court of Mayor Gilbert against Charles Hutchinson be withdrawn, and the other members seemed to think that the proper thing in the circumstances. It was then decided to leave the present state of affairs at the National House in the hands of the health officer. A motion made by Purinton changed the officers of the board by discharging Dr. Ogden as city physician and J. T. King as health officer, but another action made Doctor Ogden the health officer, and J. T. King sanitary police and food and dairy inspector. Doctor Toot was elevated to the position of city physician, thus adding one official to the list. King was voted a salary of $50 per month, but the compensation of the health officer was not fixed. The clerk was instructed to correspond with other cities of our rank, and gain some information on the rate paid by them. After a motion by Kauffman it was decided to have Purinton arrange a meeting with the physicians of the city, at which the attitude toward the board might be made plain. He was also instructed to prepare a paper on the subject of the board's feeling toward the doctors, and there will likely be another from some physicians dealing with this side of the case. Huston and Chambers were then appointed a committee to decide on order of business, and the members went home.

Two Deaths.

Roland, the six months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rob. Merriman, East End died this morning after but two days illness with membranous croup. The funeral will take place Monday.

Mrs. Thomas Miles died at her home in East End last night at 9 o'clock after an illness extending through a period of 12 years. Thomas Miles and Sarah J. Andrews were married about 27 years ago in Bristol, England and came to this country nine years ago. Five children born to them are still living at home, as is the husband of the deceased, and three sisters, a brother and her parents in England survive her. Deceased was a devout member of the Second Presbyterian church, and bore her suffering with patience characteristic of a true Christian.

The funeral will take place from the Second Presbyterian church at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with interment in Riverview cemetery.

A Wife Beater.

Reliable information states that a well-known resident of East Liverpool, a man of unsavory record and reputation, but who attempts to hold his head high, and calls himself a man, beat and abused his wife a few days since, and would have inflicted serious injury upon her had not a friend of the lady interfered and protected her from the cowardly ruffian. The wife is a noble woman, and has a host of friends. The contemptible wife beater had better call a halt. This is not his first offense of a like character, and good men and true in this city may call him to account in a manner which will chill the blood of the cowardly poltroon. Many of our readers will glance beneath these lines and recognize the individual we have reference to.

Why Waggle Was Not Present.

The Bridgewater Gas company was a defendant in the court of Squire Travis this morning because Mrs. Julia Smith had sued for $13.50, the amount of a board bill contracted by company employes when working in this vicinity in 1892. She said that Frank Waggle, of Vanport, had made the arrangement, and when the squire asked where Waggle could be found the auditor of the company said he was in jail, which accounted well for his absence. The case was thrown out because Waggle had no authority to make debts for the company.

Hutchinson May Sue.

Charles Hutchinson, whose litigation with the board of health has caused so much talk, said this morning that the board neglected, when they gave him a time limit for the putting in of the sewer, to remember an important section of the law which compels the city to build a sewer when the owner or tenant of the property objects. He does not believe that he will wait until the limit is reached, but thinks he will enter suit against the city to have the sewer built, and the amount charged against the property.

Naming the Winner.

D. J. Smith, one of the oldest and firmest Republicans of the county, is spoken of by a number of his friends as being the only logical candidate for the legislature which the southern part of the county can put in the field this year. Mr. Smith has devoted all his efforts for years in the cause of his party, and is known from every boundary to the center. He is well versed in all the political questions of the day, and would make a representative worthy the support of every good Republican in the county.

Tramps in East End.

East End people are annoyed because of the number of insolent and suspicious looking tramps who have taken up their abode in that part of the city. Not a night passes without the gang sleeping at the sewer pipe works, and putting in the days begging from the people, at times demanding instead of asking for charity. Housewives are growing weary of the increasing annoyance, and now that the number has been increased to over a dozen they wonder why the authorities do not act.

Will Appoint the Committee.

The directors of the board of commerce decided at the meeting last night to empower the president to appoint a committee of three to confer with council and the doctors about the hospital suggested by Doctor Marshall. They were all at sea, not having been notified by council, and could do nothing further. Clerk Hanley was seen this morning, and said that he thought the board did not meet until Monday, but he mailed them the official notice from council today.

The Commissioners Have Gone.

The county commissioners left on the morning train, but not before deciding that Company E should drill in the rink, and the improvements will be made at city hall. They want the contract made at once, and left instructions with Lieutenant Supplee to advertise for bids. Plans for the remodeling of the room have already been made, and provide for a comfortable armory.

A Big Meeting.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church are planning large things for the annual meeting of the Pittsburg conference branch, which will be held next Thursday morning, afternoon and evening. Prominent ladies of Pittsburg and a number of well-known ministers will be present and deliver addresses.

Vindication For Council.

A resident who has been closely watching the contest between council and the board of health looks upon the result of the Hutchinson trial as a vindication for council, not so much because of the principle involved as because of the dilly and long drawn out methods of the board.

Henry Is Free.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS REVIEW.
LISBON, Jan. 12.—Henry Slecker was this afternoon legally separated from his wife, who, he charges, has been absent from home for a long time and has not been treading the straight and narrow way. Court adjourned until 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

ROW ABOUT RELIGION

Trouble In An East End Church.

A CANTATA WAS THE SAD CAUSE

And One Of the Principals Resigned. When He Changed His Mind He Could Not Return—Members Objected To Concerts In the Church Building.

A row is on in an East End church, and those who know the particulars are wondering why music should be the innocent cause of such a fuss.

Not long ago an entertainment was given in the church, and some of the leaders of the church imagined that some of the selections were not intended for such services. At that time, however, nothing was said in public and the matter was dropped. Recently the good people who had made money for the church, decided that they would repeat the entertainment for charity but the leaders sat down upon them, and one of the principals resigned his place. After a day or two the matter blew over, and he who had resigned asked to be reinstated, but the powers said no, and now the row is growing. It is said that a hall was offered for the entertainment but for some reason, which the initiated claim to know nothing about, the offer was never accepted. Where the fuss will end no one attempts to predict, but the little affair is causing no end of talk.

Among the Crockery Salesmen.

F. C. Stough, representing the East Palestine pottery, was here last night shaking hands with old friends. His home is in Shreve, O.

S. Q. Hamilton, who sells the product of the Chelsea, of New Cumberland, is in town today talking it over with the boys who have not yet taken to the road.

S. H. Sterling, traveler for the Consolidated Lamp and Glass company, was here from Pittsburg on business today.

W. J. Chapman, representing C. M. Lenington, a big crockery dealer of Chicago, was in town today buying ware for his firm.

Colonel Blumenthal, who has been delayed here for several days, will leave for his territory in the south next week. The samples of the Standard, as in days of yore, will go with him.

The Deidrick Case Settled.

Joseph L. Deidrick was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief Gill and taken to city hall where the charge there on file against him was read. He declared that he was not guilty and the hearing was set for this afternoon. Later it was postponed until Monday, and then the case was withdrawn, the difficulty having been settled without the intervention of the law.

In speaking of the matter to a News Review reporter Mr. Pope said this afternoon that he wished to state that it was at the request of Mrs. J. L. Deidrick that he and his wife went to the house. He also said that it was only at the earnest request of his wife and members of the family that he withdrew the charge.

Counterfeit Coin.

East Rochester and Bayard, towns on the Cleveland and Pittsburg in this county, are providing a sensation, because counterfeit coins are in circulation there. The money is a good substitute for the original, and looks so much like real money that farmers in that section have been nicely taken in. Some of the stuff has reached as far as Salineville, and a conductor on the railroad was victimized with a bad dollar one night this week.

Another Grip for the Standard.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS REVIEW.
TOLEDO, Jan. 12.—The Standard Oil company have absorbed the Sun, Craig and Crystal Oil company's business of this city, and the Merriam, of Cleveland. A large refinery will be built in East Toledo, and the company expect to make heavy shipments east by lake vessels. It is a big deal.

Three Safes Cracked.

Burglars made a raid on Rochester last night, and carried all before them. They cracked the safe of a milling company then moved to the street railway strong box, and ended their depredations by breaking open the safe of W. S. Schellenberger.

A Pole Stopped Them.

A team belonging to a farmer from the vicinity of Calcutta was left standing in the Diamond this morning, and ran away. A telephone pole at the Dresden pottery stopped the horses and broke a wheel.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

A certain of baking powder. Highest quality in baking strength. Latest United States Government Food Report. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

FLYING TO THE WALL.

Chinese There Expected to Make a Stand.

JAPS APPROACHING KIN-CHOW.

Heavy Snows Impede the Progress of the Armies - Japan Formulates Exact Conditions For Peace With China-The Japs Take Kai-Ping.

TEN TSIN, Jan. 12.—The Japanese are steadily advancing on Chin Chow. The Chinese are retreating slowly to the Great wall, where it is expected they will make a stand. Heavy snows impede the progress of the armies. Several skirmishes have occurred, and in their retreat the Chinese have left numbers of their wounded behind them.

It is said that Japan has formulated her conditions for peace with China. Approximately the conditions are the independence of Korea under Japanese suzerainty, the cessation of certain Chinese islands, the razing of the Taku forts, the deprivation of Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei of their character as naval ports and their dismantling, the demolition of all forts in the way from Korea to China and admission of Japan's right to prescribe the number and type of China's men-of-war, the payment of a heavy indemnity and if possible the negotiation of a Chinese Japanese alliance.

THE CHINESE WALL.

JAPS TAKE KAI-PING.

Chinese Resist Them For a Day—Chinese Reinforcements on the Move.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 12.—An official dispatch says that Major General Nogis, (sic) Nodzus division, began an attack upon the Chinese position and in a day Kaping was taken. The Chinese fled toward Hai Shai Sai, with the Japanese in pursuit. The numbers killed and wounded on either side are not known. The first army was welcomed by the inhabitants while moving its headquarters to Shenyin with manifestations of strong desire to remain under Japanese rule.

Dispatches from Kin-Chow say that Japanese scouts report that a large force of Chinese is moving down to support the Kai-Ping force, which has retired toward New Chwang. At Kai-Ping the Chinese numbered 3,000 men, and they had 12 guns. About 200 Chinese were killed; the number of wounded Chinese is not known. About 150 prisoners were taken. The Japanese casualties are not stated.

To Test the Income Tax.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Louis H. Hyde, who resides at Orange, N. J., has commenced a suit in equity in the United States circuit court against the Continental Trust company, of which he is a shareholder, to test the constitutionality of the new income tax law. Mr. Hyde is represented by Messrs. Seward, Guthrie, Morawetz and Steele, and Mr. Joseph H. Choate as his counsel. It is understood that a number of corporations and individuals largely affected by the income tax have combined to protect their interests and to test the constitutionality of the act.

Governor-Elect Morrill Ill.

TOPEKA, Jan. 12.—Governor-elect E. N. Morrill is ill. He has been feeling bad for several days and his physician says his ailment is an attack of intermittent fever. The governor's intimate friends are much alarmed about his condition and have expressed fears least he will not be able to participate in the inaugural ceremonies on Monday.

Pennsylvania Banker Indicted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—William W. Weston, president of the Savings Bank of Honesdale, Pa., has been indicted by the grand jury four times for aiding and abetting the alteration on certain notes which were signed by H. E. Simmons and a merchant in this city. He was held in $5,000 bail, which was furnished.

Vote to Investigate Frauds.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 12.—The state senate by a vote of 19 to 14 adopted a resolution postponing the canvassing of the returns for governor until an investigation of the charges of fraud in the election are made.

A Jeweler Assigns.

WHEELING, Jan. 12.—B. W. Hose, a jeweler doing business at 1525 Market street, has assigned for the benefit of his creditors. The amount involved is not large.

Strikers Grow Turbulent.

BURENS AYRES, Jan. 12.—The seamen and dock laborers who are out on strike are growing turbulent.

THEY PLEAD FOR ELLIOTT.

Gen. Ryan and Others Appear Before Gov. McKinley.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—General Michael Ryan of Cincinnati, Hon. George L. Converse, Captain E. L. Taylor, Hon. D. L. Ryan and others have appeared before the governor and argued in behalf of a parole for Patrick J. Elliott, serving a 20-year sentence for manslaughter, growing out of the famous street duel here a few years ago.

Their arguments were supported by the presentation of a petition bearing over 70,000 signatures. The previous good character of the prisoner, the great provocation which led him to take part in the affray, and the condition of his family were the points dwelt upon. It was claimed he had suffered enough and could be safely restored to liberty. The governor heard the statements under the impression that a pardon was wanted, but finding that only a parole was sought he referred the petitioners to the board of penitentiary managers.

A NERVOUS ROBBER.

He Lets a Gun Go Off Accidentally, Killing His Victim.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—Two masked robbers entered the residence of James Jamison, residing near Dublin, 12 miles north of this city, and covering Mr. Jamison and his hired man with revolvers, demanded the former's money. Jamison reached into his pocket for his money, and as he drew it out the revolver held by the robber covering him was discharged, the bullet entering his brain.

The robbers beat a hasty retreat without stopping to pick up the money. Jamison died an hour later. The robber is believed to have discharged his weapon from sheer nervousness.

Three Bears Roaming About.

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Jan. 10.—A report has reached this city to the effect that three bears, belonging to some rovers, have escaped, and are not only at large in the woods near the northern limit of the county, but are feasting on all the pigs, poultry, etc., that happen in their way. Great excitement prevails among the farmers, and a scouting party is said to be out searching for the unruly bears. All kinds of stories are in circulation relative to people hurt, children frightened, etc.

Quarreling Over Wheel Works.

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 12.—There is a great deal of commotion at Galvin, this county, over the proposition to bond the city to give a bonus to a new manufacturing concern. The new factory is a wheel works, and Galvin already possesses one institution of this kind, the proprietor of which, A. Howard, has taken steps to stop proceedings. The bonds have been advertised for sale, but Howard has applied for an injunction, and the case has been set for hearing today.

McKinley Confirms the Stories.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—The joint committee of citizens and the chamber of commerce, for the relief of destitution among the Hocking valley miners, has received dispatches from Governor McKinley fully confirming the stories of suffering. The joint committee met today to push the collection of contributions. The sum of $878 has been sent to Mayor Caldwell by voluntary individual contributors.

Two Ohio Men Were Victims.

BRAZIL, Ind., Jan. 12.—Recently Walter Hays and William French, two young men, came here from Ohio and began working in the same room in the Diamond mine. The other day, while at work, the slate roof gave way and fell on them. Hays was killed instantly, his body being crushed into a shapeless mass. French was also badly crushed and will die.

Burglar Shoots at a Woman.

TIFFIN, O., Jan. 12.—A masked burglar entered the residence of Rev. Father Haley, and attempted to gain an entrance into his room. Mrs. Lee, Rev. Haley's housekeeper, hearing a noise in the hall, stepped out of her room, and at that moment the burglar fired a shot at her, and made his escape. The bullet passed through the sleeve of her night dress, and she escaped uninjured.

Will Play in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—Jacob Schaefer, the "Wizard," and Frank C. Ives, the "Napoleon" of billiards, will play a match game in this city on Wednesday evening next at the Cleveland Athletic club. Arrangements for the game have been made by Manager Scovel of the C. A. C., with Mr. Charles J. E. Parker, manager for Schaefer and Ives, who is now in this city.

New Receiver Appointed.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—Subject to the approval of the other two judges of this circuit, Judge Ricks in the circuit court has appointed D. D. Davis auditor of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City railroad to the receivership of that property, vice S. R. Gallaway, who resigned to become president of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad.

To Be Read Tomorrow.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—Bishop Horstmann of the Cleveland diocese has issued a circular, which includes the resed decree of the pope on secret societies, to be read at all of the diocese churches tomorrow morning. The bishop's letter calls for prompt obedience to the pope's decree.

Called Out on a Strike.

MASSILLON, O., Jan. 12.—The drivers and inside men of Peacock mine No. 9 have been called out. The Daltons and Miller mines began operations with new drivers, and this is regarded in the Massillon district as heralding the general return to work.

A Decision Expected Today.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—The arguments in the habeas corpus case and proceedings for the extradition of Charles Morganfield, the train robber, to Virginia, have been concluded. Judge Wilson will announce his decision today.

Gold Withdrawn For Shipment.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Advices to the treasury department from the sub-treasury at New York report the withdrawal of $2,300,000 in gold for export. This leaves the amount of the gold reserve $77,474,409.

SMALLPOX A HELP.

It Solves a Problem For Indiana Authorities.

IT STOPS RACING AT ROBY.

The Hoosier State Officials Have Racked Their Brains For Months to Accomplish What the Disease Has Done—Seven Men in a Pethouse.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Aid from an unexpected source has come to the Indiana authorities, who have for months been racking their brains as to the best method of closing and keeping closed, the race track at Roby. An epidemic of smallpox has broken out and there is a wild scrambling among the touts, stablemen and jockeys to reach a more healthful locality. Seven men from the Roby track, all with smallpox in its worst form, have been brought to the pethouse within three days. It is probable that a corps of physicians from the Indiana board of health will be sent to the track to vaccinate everybody in the place and to thoroughly fumigate the stables and other buildings of the track, and to make every effort to stamp out the disease which seems to have taken a strong hold and is rapidly spreading. The track is closed at present, but it is not likely that the state medical authorities will allow it to reopen, even if the management wishes to do so.

HOW TAYLOR WAS CAUGHT.

He Helped a Failing Bank With South Dakota's Funds.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 12.—Ex-Governor Mellette, one of the bondsmen of Defaulting State Treasurer Taylor, has arrived here. Mellette was in Chicago on Dec. 12 and met Taylor there. The latter was apparently in conference with a number of his friends and bondsmen and with Leppellman, whose bank at Gettysburg failed three months ago and who through that really dragged Taylor down to his ruin. The governor knew Mr. Taylor intimately and trusted him thoroughly. He states that Taylor told him a short time ago the history of the bank at Gettysburg and the way in which he was caught. During the panic of 18 months ago the bank got into close quarters and appealed to Taylor for help.

After consulting with various bankers, he loaned $40,000 of the state's money, all agreeing that to let the bank fail at that time would endanger every bank in the state, and would probably bring ruin on all the people. As he had helped out other institutions, he helped this. He found, however, that the condition of the institution was much worse than he had suspected, and having placed so great a sum there, he sent good money after bad till he had sunk $100,000. Then came his other losses, amounting to fully half as much, and he was unable to borrow or sell. A great amount of property came into his possession from this bank, real estate, merchandise, stock, cattle and other articles, and he made strenuous efforts to sell. In this he failed, and for a time his friends helped him out. They reached their limit, however, and he was thrown on his own resources. He could not get money from the east and was caught.

An Order Granted Mrs. Girty.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Caroline E. Girty of Brooklyn has obtained from Judge Bartlett of the supreme court an order directing the Standard Oil company to furnish a bill of particulars concerning certain embezzlement of her husband, George W. Girty, while the latter was in charge of the company's plant at Cleveland in 1891. An action was begun by Mrs. Girty against the oil company to recover certain property in Cleveland, valued at $110,000, which she alleges her husband compelled her to transfer to the company on the plea that unless she did so he would be sent to jail.

Thought They Were Bombs.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12.—August Ellner, who declares himself to be an anarchist, was standing in front of the Kansas State bank when he pulled from his pockets three pieces of bar iron and threw them through the plate glass windows. The bars looked very much like dynamite bombs, hence the excitement. At the station house Ellner said he wanted to go to jail for shelter and adopted this means of reaching that haven.

Hill Not Much on Dinners.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 12.—Comptroller Eckels, Senators Gibson and Dubois and Representatives Tucker, Allen, Byrum, Graw, Springer, Boutelle, Bankhead, Bolliver, Quigg, Milliken and Coffin have accepted invitations to attend the annual banquet of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association Jan. 24. Senator Hill said to Secretary John Blank: "I am not much on dinners, but I have made one or two exceptions recently."

Shouting at a Hanging.

RICHMOND, Ky., Jan. 12.—William Taylor, colored, has been hanged here for murdering David C. Doty, near this city, Dec. 7, 1894. About 5,000 people were present and most all saw the drop. He declared that he was going to Heaven. He spoke ten minutes, waived his handkerchief and said goodbye. A number of negro women shouted while he was talking and singing.

Mrs. Astor's Funeral.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The funeral of Mrs. William Waldorf Astor, was held here from Trinity chapel on West Twenty-sixth street today. The body was buried in the family plot in Trinity cemetery on Washington Heights. There were ten pallbearers, selected from among friends of the family. The Rev. Morgan Dix officiated, assisted by Bishop Potter.

The French Victorious.

TAMATAVE, Jan. 12.—The French have bombarded Fara-Fatra, about four miles inland from Tamatave. The Novas answered with seven guns, but the French were successful and the Novas retired with heavy loss.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mrs. Walter Young, of East End, is confined to her home, seriously ill.

A young East End lady will be the victim of a surprise party this evening.

Mrs. Monroe Patterson is very ill with typhoid fever, and it is feared that she cannot live.

A street car in charge of Motorman Allison left the track at the East End curve this morning. No damage was done.

First Spiritual society meets Sunday 7:30 p. m., in Ferguson & Hill hall. Subject "Out of Darkness Into Light."

Francis Balkley, the tinner, who was hurt by falling from a ladder at the Thomas residence, is still improving and is able to sit up.

Reverend Huffer, pastor of the Church of Christ, is recovering from a severe illness, and hopes to be with his congregation next week.

The members of the Phoenix club and their lady friends will dance in the pleasant rooms of the organization on Tuesday evening of next week.

George Hamilton, Fifth street, is making his final arrangements to leave for a trip through Europe, Asia and Africa. He will be one of a party to leave New York the first of next month, and will be gone about three months.

The cold weather has delayed work on the new school building somewhat, but great improvement has already been made on the interior. Glass has been put in many windows, and other work done which adds to the appearance of the structure.

Detective Mehan yesterday arrested Charles Ellis at Irontale, and taking him to Steubenville, saw that he paid a fine of $19.10. Ellis was implicated in a fight which took place on a train between this city and Irontale the week before Christmas.

Monday morning will see almost all the potteries in operation, the last of those which have been idle being almost ready to start by that time. Wallace & Chetwynd have been delayed in making repairs, but will soon join the busy throng, and turn out ware with the best of them.

It is said that a West End resident whipped his wife on Thursday night, and his son threatened to have him arrested if he did not at once make reparation. As the offspring has attained that size whereby his strength can compel obedience, there have been no more family jars in that household.

The breaks in the Bridgewater Gas company's mains were repaired in time to bring the usual supply at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. One of the breaks was in a 10-inch main at the edge of the river on the West Virginia side, and the other, a break in a six inch pipe, was discovered at a point where the line crossed a ravine a short distance back from the river.

Humane Agent Lloyd makes another call for donations. He says the society will be very thankful for clothing for adults and children and all kinds of food. Some few donations have been received, but much more is needed to keep up the good work in charge of the society. Mr. Lloyd promises to see that all donations are distributed judiciously among the needy.

Mailcarrier Alynius Swaney met with a severe accident yesterday while proceeding down Lincoln avenue. His foot struck an icy spot on the pavement and he fell heavily. One leg was so badly wrenched that it was thought to have been broken, but the physician called could find no broken bones. Mr. Swaney will be laid up for about 10 days as a result of the accident.

Friends of a Salineville young lady who reside in this city, have learned that not long ago she consummated a most romantic courtship by going to Colorado and marrying the man of her choice. She had never seen him, but imagining that a wealth of sterling worth peeped through the bright spots in the correspondence they have faithfully carried on for some time, she chose him as the partner of her joys and sorrows.

The insurance agents' contest, which began Nov. 1 last year, has resulted in Edward Hutton securing a gold medal for making the largest percentage of collections, and Friend Debolt and Willis Noah receiving similar medals for writing the greatest amounts of insurance. The contest between Noah and Charles Sinclair for the medal and $5 in gold offered by Doctor Clarke will be decided in favor of the one collecting the most on policies written during the race.

The first contribution made to the poor people of the Hocking valley was a check for $100 sent to Governor McKinley by Colonel Gyger, of Alliance, with the statement that it was from the field and staff officers of the Eighth regiment of the National guard. It will be remembered that the Eighth regiment was in the field during the whole of the miners' strike last spring, and the people who now suffer were among the first to strike.

ARCADE GROCERY.

Buy Here and Save Money.

I have just opened up in the grocery business in East Liverpool, and shall make it my aim to please and profit patrons through the medium of first class

Groceries and Provisions.

I make a special feature of choice Butter and fresh Eggs, which I shall handle wholesale and retail.

Many years experience in the business makes me confident that I can render satisfaction to patrons. Believing that I can give you satisfaction, I respectfully solicit a share of your patronage.

J. F. QUICK, 273 E. Market. 266 Broadway

NEW GRAND OPERA HOUSE. SATURDAY, JAN. 12.

Queen of Comedies, JANE. Under the Direction of Gustave Frohman.

500 Nights in London. 100 Nights in New York.

FUN! LAUGHTER! MERRIMENT! Prices 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.00. Seats Now on Sale at Orr's.

DR. L. C. JACKMAN, POPULAR DENTIST. Sixth and Diamond, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Teeth extracted without pain, with the use of our Local Anesthetic. No chloroform, no ether, no loss of consciousness, positively no pain. We also administer gas and vitalized air. No inexperienced students allowed to have entire charge of, or permitted to even practice in our office. Open evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Does Advertising Pay? It Certainly Pays Me.

For through it the People have found that I turn out the finest custom Made Shoes for Ladies and Gentlemen ever made in this Section, while repairing is done in the most skillful manner.

O. D. NICE, Sixth Street.

Caution about the Use and Selection of Spectacles. "Persons having normal vision will be able to read this paper at a distance of 12 inches from the eye with ease and comfort. Also, will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so, your eyes are defective and should have suitable attention. When the eyes become weak from reading, sewing, or if the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is nearsighted. The proper aid in this case is a convex lens. When the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is farsighted. The proper aid in this case is a concave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatic. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopic. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopic. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropic. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is hypermetropia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is astigmatism. The proper aid in this case is a cylindrical lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is presbyopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconvex lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a wall of smoke, the patient is myopia. The proper aid in this case is a biconcave lens. If the letters look blurred and rise together, like a

